Subject: Re: New website and plan update for MMFR Collaborative

Hi everyone,

I just wanted to share that the new website is now public and you can feel free to share around with your networks <https://collaboratives.sustainablepackaging.org/multi-material-flexible-packaging-recovery>

Thanks and lookout for an invite soon for September.

Best,

Tristanne

Hi Multi Material Flexible Recovery Collaborative members,

I am excited to share with you our pre-public version of the new MMFR website - which includes our new chemical recycling content I shared out with you previously as well as a general refresh and new look and feel. I think this is a resource we can all be very proud of! Please do not share externally yet. We plan to make the site public late next week and will accompany the web update with some communications to our network about it as well. I will let you know once it is officially up and ready to share out with your network!

As far as next steps- we will not be having a call in August. As I mentioned, SPC is thinking about work streams related to chemical recycling and we are working through an internal process to look into that. I will be reaching out to some of you to get your input over the next few weeks. Then we can pick back up in September with next steps.

In the meantime, I suggest everyone read the Pew/Systemiq report that was just released, which we believe is a very interesting framework we can build on. Also sharing the Brightmark announcement in case anyone missed it.

Feel free to reach out with any comments or questions.

Have a great weekend and talk next month!

Tristanne
